“ For all who may know or who should know. Bryan loved Savannah as much as he did his own son Logan. He had her since she was a baby. He never made any difference between them. Savannah knows he was not her real dad and said she knew it all along. Grand ma Ann was just as wonderful a human being to Savannah. Legimigation has been denied by a superior court clerk in bartow county for her real biological dad . Bryan was the real daddy!!! We loved him dearly. It really hurts for the family to only aknowledge that Logan was the only one. ALL that knew Bryan knew he loved all. He loved Julie's brother Eric like his own brother. SO... I will tell LOgan one day about his aunt Marie and Uncle Roger Scott who put an eviction notice on the door of their home a week before Christmas. Julie had to take down the Christmas tree and move. I will tell Logan and show it to him when he is older and he will know what kind of people they are. It would be very sad to be 4 yrs old and have just buried your dad and be kicked out of your home bye evil money hungry relatives wanting rent money. All the money they had was picked up off the side of the train track by Ms. Ward and handed to Julie. at Christmas time with gifts under the tree unopened by Bryan Life goes on ... see you Bryan again in a much better place.
