“ Dear Chris, Though you aren't able to be here, you are a young man who will be far from gone as well as forgotten. You are one of very few, who could make one smile even if you were having a bad day. Very seldom did I see you, your wife and kids without smiles on their faces. You are truly amazing and your wife is just as amazing, God knows his plans for your family and wouldn't call you home if they couldn't make it with out you. I am thankful to have met you and I am thankful to call u a friend. R.I.P Chris

“ I truly wish that I could take the pain away from you. I have already lost a child and I would gladly do this for you. I do not want anyone to bear the kind of pain that comes with this kind of loss. People will tell you that it takes time... Time does not heal this kind of pain. People will tell you that he is in a better place. No, you do not feel like he is in a better place. He should be sitting at your dining table eating his favorite meal. These are a few things that you will hear over the course of time. Only now do I realize that she is better off where she is than being here. This does not mean I do not want her with me. I would give my life if it would bring her back. I am so sorry. May God be with you in your most difficult time.
