“ I will always remember Wayne as a very dear friend and brother-in-law. He loved to tell stories of things he had done. He told stories of his childhood when he and his brothers were always into one adventure or another, and things that happened to him on his job. He would really make Steve and me laugh. Once I asked Steve if Wayne was telling the truth. I just could not believe all those things he told us. Steve said that all the stories about him and his brother happened just as Wayne said. He was a special man and will really be missed.
